SANTA MONICA RENT CONTROL BOARD ELLIS ACT OVERVIEW

The Ellis Act (process) is a State Law that allows a property owner to remove residential rental property from the marketplace. It requires local governments to allow property owners to go out of the residential rental business. The Ellis Process is handled through the Santa Monica Rent Control Board. It involves filing applications, paying tenant relocation fees, and meeting other requirements.

The subject property has been Ellised. The current owners have paid the relocation fees, filed the proper paperwork, and the units are vacant. Their plan was to demolish the units and develop a 7-unit condominium project.

If your interest is to owner occupy the units or to return the units to the rental market there are restrictions on doing this, who would be allowed to occupy the property, and the rents that could be charged. Buyer is advised to contact the Santa Monica Rent Control Board - Joe Howdidi at 310-458-8751 to learn more about what can and cannot be done.

Due to the complicated manner of the Ellis Act the Listing Broker will not provide any further details regarding the Ellis Act or the process to owner occupy or return the units to the rental market.

This is by no means a complete (nor necessarily accurate) depiction of the legal issues and uses of the property. Buyers are advised to do their own investigation and should not rely upon any representations from the Brokers or Owners. Buyer is advised to independently verify the accuracy of all information through personal inspection and with appropriate professionals.
